Know more than an SpO₂ reading—at a glance.

We give you warning about potentially harmful patterns of desaturation, so you can act sooner. With our alerts, you know that your patients may be experiencing repetitive reductions in airflow—even if they haven't crossed the SpO₂ alarm threshold.

That's just one feature of the new Alarm Management System* for the Nellcor™ OxiMax™ N-600x™ pulse oximeter, offering more meaningful alarms and more pulse oximetry information, at a glance.

You live and breathe patient safety. And so do we.
